

R 5600.1 STUDENT DISCIPLINE/CODE OF CONDUCT - HIGH SCHOOL (M)

Effective citizenship requires a spirit which balances freedom for the individual with responsibility for society. In order to develop this understanding and protect everyone in the society, procedures are established within any community. The approach to discipline balances individual privileges with the needs of the educational family. Policies are designed to help each pupil understand the value of acting in a responsible way. If behavior becomes irresponsible, an effort is made to help the pupil find better ways to reach goals, while also developing an understanding of the consequences of actions. The goal is to develop intellectual ability and social responsibility in all pupils. Disruption and interference with the education of others, a lack of respect for the rights or properties of others, and an inability to do as directed are examples of behavior necessitating action.

H. Chart of Student Discipline

Discipline Guidelines

Discipline problems will be treated with positive methods before more punitive measures are found necessary. It is intended that consequences, when assigned, will encourage improved student behavior.

In areas not specifically covered by the discipline policy, punishment will be administered at the discretion of the administration. Administrators may change a consequence at their discretion based upon the circumstances of the infraction.

The administration shall keep a file on a student who has violated the rules. It shall be the responsibility of the administration to see that, for each subsequent infraction, a concise account and record shall be communicated to the home in order to keep the parent informed of any change in the student's status.

Once a student accumulates 3 days of suspension, Seniors will not be eligible to participate in the Senior Trip. All students, after accumulating 3 days of suspension will require a conference with the building principal to determine eligibility for school functions (including all dances/proms, Mr. Clearview, etc.) for the balance of the school year. After accumulating 6 days of suspension, all students will be ineligible to participate in any school functions for the remainder of the school year.

Students who are suspended (out-of-school) are immediately excluded from all student activities and/or functions for the duration of the suspension; this includes attendance, as well as active participation. Eligibility for attendance or participation will be restored when the student is readmitted to school or regular classes. Example: a student is suspended at the close of school on Thursday for one (1) day. That student is then immediately prohibited from attending all school activities until reinstated to school on Monday.

If the number of times a student commits an offense is greater than the number listed on the Code, suspensions will progressively increase based on the occurrences.

Senior Trip

- Based on the nature of the senior trip and the freedom that is afforded students on this trip, it is expected that all students attending the trip will be in good standing with regards to discipline and attendance. Any student who accumulates 3 days of suspension or 10 attendance points (or more) prior to the senior trip will not be permitted to attend the Senior Trip.
- Additionally, if there are any violations of the code of conduct while on the Senior Trip, the student will be sent home with a chaperone. The student will also lose the opportunity to participate in all extra-curricular activities immediately at a cost to be paid for by the parent of the student for the remainder of the school year including prom and all other school functions, including graduation.

Note: Student conduct that occurs outside the school may result in consequences if it causes any interference or disturbance to the daily function and/or operation of a school day.

2. MAKE A CONCERTED EFFORT TO LEARN INFORMATION PRESENTED AND COMPLETE ALL LEARNING ASSIGNMENTS

Intellectual integrity is at the heart of any academic endeavor. Students are expected to be honest in all academic work.

Academic Integrity & Plagiarism

All Clearview Regional High School programs require high standards of academic integrity. All forms of dishonesty whether by act or omission, including, but not limited to, cheating, plagiarism and knowingly furnishing false information to the school district are prohibited.

Students at CRHS are explicitly taught how to integrate secondary source material into original works. CRHS currently relies upon the conventions of the Modern Language Association whose approach requires students to parenthetically document resources. This approach is supported by the Media Center and in all disciplines. Some teachers also expose students to the conventions of the American Psychological Association (APA) or the newer Chicago format, usually expected in higher education.

Students who plagiarize an original compositions (research paper, literary analysis, science lab, news journalism, and other compositions) will receive consequences as outlined below for the offense(s). Teachers may use their discretion to determine if a secondary assignment will be provided.

Cheating can also take the following forms: cheat-sheets, crib-sheets, answers written on pencils, hats, notebooks, appendages (arms, legs, hands), calculators, or when students rely upon the utilization of cell phones, text-messaging or listening devices (MP3 players, iPods, laptops) to copy and transfer information while completing an assessment is not ethical. Likewise, the sharing of answers during assessment periods via whispering, talking, or due to placement on the desk, constitutes a violation of the ethical code of conduct, as does the sharing and subsequent copying of homework assignments.

Disciplinary consequences will be assigned at the discretion of the administration based on severity.

Teachers are not required to provide make-up work when students are caught cheating; teachers may provide a secondary assessment.
